Each subgroup will develop strategies for one of the top five priorities identified above. The subgroups will then share their strategies and get feedback from the full group.

Workgroup participants will then break into five new subgroups, and each subgroup will develop strategies for one of the next five top priorities (priorities 6-10). Again, subgroups will report-out to, and get feed back from, the full group.

Workgroup participants will then determine what more needs to be done, and will develop the agenda for the third meeting (November 8).
